The flooring must be installed by an experienced professional parquet flooring fitter.
It is suggested to do not cover the floor in the first period with carpets, rugs or other things to avoid changing of tone in different areas of the floor due to exposition of direct natural sun light. In any case the oxidation (changes in tone colours) it's a normal phenomenon caused by the exposition of the wood to air and natural sun light.
The floor must not be sanded after installation. This operation would cause the removal of the stained colours.
